Morgan represents individuals, businesses, and entities in a broad range of transactional and litigation matters. Her practice focuses on complex commercial litigation, real estate litigation, and trust and estate disputes. She has tried nearly a dozen cases to verdict and appeared before the Washington Court of Appeals to favorable outcomes. Morgan particularly enjoys helping individuals and small businesses handle issues that at times can feel insurmountable and finding an expeditious and efficient resolution. Although she focuses on litigation, Morgan enjoys a steady stream of transactional work too.
